

Nantes, France
8 and 9 September 2011

BioMarine Business Convention is THE only worldwide convention bringing together key stakeholders from science, industry, and investors, in marine bio resources. Organized around a platform of professionals' meetings and high-level conferences, it fosters marine initiatives and innovative projects. Indeed, it aims to develop small, medium and national companies on the international stage. BioMarine will offer you unique business opportunities!

We share the same business ecosystem at BioMarine

What is the connection between a micro-alga, fungi, bio diesel, waste water treatment, bio remediation, a cure for cancer, a novel adhesive, cosmetics, a bio-degradable lipstick packaging, food supplements and natural fertilizers...marine bio- resources!

As we are searching for alternative solutions which will give our economy a second lease of life and as we begin to think about the valorisation of bio-diversity, marine bio-resources continue their quiet revolution in the background and are becoming a durable part of our everyday life.

Marine bio-resources represent an essential value of the new planetary economic equation. Over 1200 companies worldwide will gather over 2 days to discuss marine bio-resources.

Aline Pajolec, Thalocea Fund, Luxemburg

Olivier Bourtourault,
CEO Algaia, President Aleor,
France

Maria Hayes,
Research Officer, NutraMara
Scientific Project Manager,
Ashtown Food Research Centre, Eire

Susan Avery,
Director Woods Hole
Oceanographic Institution,
USA

They share a common interest:
marine
bio resources

Elliot Entis,
CEO American Salmon company (ASC),
Co- founder and Board,
Aquabounty technologies, USA

Paal Bakken,
Chairman, founder & CEO
Seaweed Energy Solutions AS,
Norway

Nadia Miller,
Vice President, La Prairie
International, Switzerland

For more information:

Check our website
Or contact Pierre Erwes

<http://convention.biomarine.org>
+33 678 078 284

How to enter BioMarine one-to-one business meetings?

You have the chance to increase your network
and update your knowledge, grab it!

1. Register and introduce yourself online:

<http://convention.biomarine.org>

Each participant will complete a registration form that will enable them to:

- a- present their area of expertise and activities
- b- give precise indications about the kind of contacts they would like to make, and specific topics they would like to discuss: technical, trade, finance, etc.

2. Indicate availability:

Each participant will indicate when they are available for Face-2-Face meetings.

3. Explore “who’s who” and select representatives

A “who’s who” presenting all the participants will be accessible on the website. Each participant will be able to check the introductions about each representative. They will then choose which representatives they wish to meet in a Face-2-Face meeting. A search engine is also available.

4. Priorities:

Each participant will be able to rank demands in order of priority.

5. Preview and refuse meeting requests:

Each participant will be able to preview the Face-2-Face meetings proposed by others, and may refuse the request, explaining the reason of their decision.

6. Personalized schedule of Face-2-Face meetings:

A personalized schedule of Face-2-Face meetings will be created, taking into account:

- Requests and priorities of each participant
- Common requests
- Balance between supply and demand

The schedule will state:

- The time of the meeting
- The place

This gives a last chance for representatives to meet during meal times, coffee breaks, etc.

For more information:

Check our website
Or contact Pierre Erwes

<http://convention.biomarine.org>
+33 678 078 284